

Supplier Sustainability Assessment Criteria

Peter Rowland Group is committed to environmental stewardship, ethical sourcing, and sustainable practices throughout our supply chain. Potential suppliers are assessed based on the following sustainability criteria:

Environmental Practices:

- Compliance with local and international environmental regulations.
- Implementation of waste reduction and recycling initiatives.
- Evidence of energy efficiency and use of renewable energy sources.
- Sustainable sourcing of raw materials and packaging.

Social Responsibility:

- Adherence to fair labour standards and ethical employment practices.
- Initiatives supporting community engagement and local economic growth.
- Policies to ensure human rights compliance and prevent modern slavery.

Ethical Standards:

- Transparent business practices and strong corporate governance.
- Commitment to continuous improvement in sustainability and ethical sourcing.
- Clear evidence of certifications or compliance with standards such as Fair Trade, Organic, FSC, or equivalent.

Reporting and Transparency:

- Ability to provide sustainability reports or related documentation.
- Openness to audits and site inspections to verify sustainability claims.

These criteria ensure that our suppliers align with Peter Rowland Group's core sustainability objectives, fostering long-term, responsible partnerships.
